

UNREEVE, v. t. unreev. To withdraw or take out a rope from a block, thimble, &c. [See Unreave.]

UNREFINED, a. Not refined; not purified; as unrefined sugar.

2. Not refined or polished in manners.

UNREFORMABLE, a. Not capable of being put into a new form. Hammond.

2. That cannot be reformed or amended.

UNREFORMED, a. Not reformed; not reclaimed from vice; as an unreformed youth.

2. Not amended; not corrected; as unreformed manners; unreformed vices.

3. Not reduced to truth and regularity; not freed from error; as an unreformed calendar. Holder.

UNREFRACTED, a. Not refracted, as rays of light.

UNREFRESHED, a. Not refreshed; not relieved from fatigue; not cheered.

UNREFRESHING, a. Not refreshing; not invigorating; not cooling; not relieving from depression or toil. Beddoes.

UNREGARDED, a. Not regarded; not heeded; not noticed; neglected; slighted. Dryden. Swift.

UNREGARDFUL, a. Not giving attention; heedless; negligent.

UNREGENERACY, n. State of being unregenerate or unrenewed in heart.

UNREGENERATE, a. Not regenerated; not renewed in heart; remaining at enmity with God. Stephens.

UNREGISTERED, a. Not registered; not recorded. Shak.

UNREGULATED, a. Not regulated; not reduced to order. Milner.

UNREINED, a. Not restrained by the bridle. Milton.

UNREJOICING, a. Unjoyous; gloomy; sad. Thomson.

UNRELATED, a. Not related by blood or affinity.

2. Having no connection with.

UNRELATIVE, a. Not relative; not relating; having no relation to. Chesterfield. [Irrelative is more generally used.]

UNRELATIVELY, adv. Without relation to. [Little used.] Bolingbroke.

UNRELENTING, a. Not relenting; having no pity; hard; cruel; as an unrelenting heart.

2. Not yielding to pity; as unrelenting cruelty.

3. Not yielding to circumstances; inflexibly rigid; as an unrelenting rule. Paley.

UNRELIEVABLE, a. Admitting no relief or succor. Boyle.

UNRELIEVED, a. Not relieved; not eased or delivered from pain.

2. Not succored; not delivered from confinement or distress; as a garrison unrelieved.

3. Not released from duty; as an unrelieved sentinel.

UNREMARKABLE, a. Not remarkable; not worthy of particular notice.

2. Not capable of being observed. Digby.

UNREMARKED, a. Not remarked; unobserved. Melmoth.

UNREMEDIAL, a. That cannot be cured; admitting no remedy. Sidney.

UNREMEDIED, a. Not cured; not remedied. Milton.

UNREMEMBERED, a. Not remembered; not retained in the mind; not recollected. Wotton.

UNREMEMBERING, a. Having no memory or recollection. Dryden.

UNREMEMBRANCE, n. Forgetfulness; want of remembrance. [Not in use.] Watts.

UNREMITTED, a. Not remitted; not forgiven; as punishment unremitted.

2. Not having a temporary relaxation; as pain unremitted.

3. Not relaxed; not abated.

UNREMITTING, a. Not abating; not relaxing for a time; incessant; continued; as unremitting exertions.

UNREMITTINGLY, adv. Without abatement or cessation. Fleming.

UNREMOVABLE, a. That cannot be removed; fixed. Shak.

UNREMOVABLENESS, n. The state or quality of being fixed and not capable of being removed. Hall.

UNREMOVABLY, adv. In a manner that admits of no removal. Shak.

UNREMOVED, a. Not removed; not taken away.

2. Not capable of being removed. Like Atlas unremoved. Milton.

UNRENEWED, a. Not made anew; as, the lease is unrenewed.

2. Not regenerated; not born of the Spirit; as a heart unrenewed.

UNREPAID, a. Not repaid; not compensated; not recompensed; as a kindness unrepaid. Johnson.

UNREPEALED, a. Not repealed; not revoked or abrogated; remaining in force.

UNREPENTANCE, n. State of being impenitent. [Little used.] Warton.

UNREPENTANT, } a. Not repenting; not penitent; not contrite for sin. Dryden.

UNREPENTING, } a. Not repented of. Hooker.

UNREPENTED, a. Not repented of. Hooker.

UNREPINING, a. Not repining; not peevishly murmuring or complaining. Rowe.

UNREPININGLY, adv. Without peevish complaints.

UNREPLENISHED, a. Not replenished; not filled; not adequately supplied. Boyle.

UNREPOSED, a. s as z. Not reposed.

UNREPRESENTED, a. s as z. Not represented; having no one to act in one's stead.

UNREPRIE/ABLE, a. That cannot be reprieved or respited from death.

UNREPRIE/VED, a. Not reprieved; not respited.

UNREPROACHED, a. Not upbraided; not reproached.

UNREPROVABLE, a. Not deserving reproof; that cannot be justly censured. Col. i.

UNREPROVED, a. Not reproved; not censured. Sandys.

2. Not liable to reproof or blame. Milton.

UNREPUGNANT, a. Not repugnant; not opposite. Hooker.

UNREPUTABLE, a. Not reputable. [For this, disreputable is generally used.]

UNREQUESTED, a. Not requested; not asked. Knolles.

UNREQUITABLE, a. Not to be retaliated. Boyle.

UNREQUITED, a. Not requited; not recompensed.

UNRESCUED, a. Not rescued; not delivered. Pollok.

UNRESENTED, a. s as z. Not resented; not regarded with anger. Rogers.

UNRESERVE, n. unrezerr. Absence of reserve; frankness; freedom of communication. Warton.

UNRESERVED, a. Not reserved; not retained when a part is granted.

2. Not limited; not withheld in part; full; entire; as unreserved obedience to God's commands. Rogers.

3. Open; frank; concealing or withholding nothing; free; as an unreserved disclosure of facts.

UNRESERVEDLY, adv. Without limitation or reservation. Boyle.

2. With open disclosure; frankly; without concealment. Pope.

UNRESERVEDNESS, n. Frankness; openness; freedom of communication; unlimitedness. Boyle. Pope.

UNRESISTED, a. [See Resist.] Not resisted; not opposed. Bentley.

2. Resistless; such as cannot be successfully opposed. Pope.

UNRESISTIBLE, a. Irresistible. Temple.

UNRESISTING, a. Not making resistance; yielding to physical force or to persuasion. Dryden.

2. Submissive; humble. Buckminster.

UNRESISTINGLY, adv. Without resistance. Randolph.

UNRESOLVABLE, a. s as z. That cannot be solved or resolved. South.

UNRESOLVED, a. s as z. Not resolved; not determined. Shak.

2. Not solved; not cleared. Locke.

UNRESOLVING, a. s as z. Not resolving; undetermined. Dryden.

UNRESPECTABLE, a. Not respectable. [Not used.] Malone.

UNRESPECTED, a. Not respected; not regarded with respect. Shak.

UNRESPECTIVE, a. Inattentive; taking little notice. [Not in use.] Shak.

UNRESPITED, a. Not respited.

2. Admitting no pause or intermission. Milton.

UNRESPONSIBLE, a. Not answerable; not liable.

2. Not able to answer; not having the property to respond. [Irresponsible is also used in the like sense.]

UNREST, n. Unquietness; uneasiness. [Not in use.] Spenser. Wotton.

UNRESTING, a. Not resting; continually in motion. Byron.

UNRESTORED, a. Not restored; not having recovered health.

2. Not restored to a former place, to favor, or to a former condition.

UNRESTRAINABLE, a. That cannot be restrained. Darwin.

UNRESTRAINED, a. Not restrained; not controlled; not confined; not hindered. Dryden.

2. Licentious; loose. Shak.