ing with clay; partaking of clay; like by sweeping and washing; a field is clean-clay, or abounding with it.

CLAYISH, a. Partaking of the nature of CLAY-MARL, n. A whitish, smooth, chalky clay. Mortimer.

CLAY-PIT, n. A pit where clay is dug.

CLAY-SLATE, n. In mineralogy, argillaceous shist; argillite.

CLAY-STONE, n. A mineral, the thonstein of Werner, and indurated clay of Kirwan, 4. Nice; artful; dextrous; adroit; as a 9. Evident; undeniable; indisputable; as It resembles compact limestone or calcarious marl. Its texture is porous, compact or slaty. Its color is gray, often tinged CLEAN'LY, adv. clen'ty. In a clean manwith yellow or blue; also rose or pale red, or brownish red, and sometimes greenish. CLEANNESS, n. Freedom from dirt, filth, 11. Free from guilt or blame; innocent; un-Cleaveland.

CLEAN, a. [Sax. clane; W. glan, or glain; 2. Ir. glan; Arm. glan. The primary sense 3. Exactness; purity; justness; correctness; 12. Free from bias; unprepossessed; not seems to be, to open or to remove, to separate.] In a general sense, free from extraneous 4. Purity; innocence. matter, or whatever is injurious or offen- In scripture, cleanness of hands denotes insive; hence its signification depends on the nature and qualities of the substances to which it is applied. 1. Free from dirt, or other foul matter; as clean water; a clean cup; a clean floor. 2. Free from weeds or stones; as clean land; a clean garden or field.

3. Free from knots or branches; as clean timber. In America, clear is generally used. 4. Free from moral impurity; innocent.

Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Job xiv. Acts xviii.

5. Free from ceremonial defilement. Lev. 2. To free from a foul or infectious disease;

That might be eaten by the Hebrews. Gen. vii. viii.

8. That might be used. Luke xi-

9. Free from a foul disease; cured of lepro-

2 Kings v. Math. viii. 10. Dextrous: adroit; not bungling; free from awkwardness; as a clean feat; a clean

 Free from infection; as a clean ship. A clean bill of health is a certificate that a ship is clean, or free from infection.

CLEAN, adv. Quite; perfectly; wholly entirely; fully; indicating separation or complete removal of every part. "The people passed clean over Jordan." Josh " Is his mercy clean gone forever?" Ps. lxxvii. elegant, and not used except in vulgar language.

2. Without miscarriage; dextrously.

Pope came off clean with Homer. Henley. CLEAN, v. t. [Sax. clanan; W. glanau.

See the Adjective.

To remove all foreign matter from; to separate from any thing whatever is extraneous to it, or whatever is foul, noxious, or I. Open; free from obstruction; as a clear offensive, as dirt or filth from the hands, sel, weeds, shrubs and stones from a mead- clear day.

ow; to purify. Thus, a house is cleaned 3. Free from foreign matter; unmixed 7. To remove any thing that obscures, as ed by plowing and hoeing.

CLAY-GROUND, n. Ground consisting of CLEAN LINESS, n. clen'liness. cleanly.] Freedom from dirt, filth, or any foul, extraneous matter. Addison

2. Neatness of person or dress; purity.

CLEAN'LY, a. clen'ly. [from clean.] Free from dirt, filth, or any foul matter; neat: carefully avoiding filth. Dryden. Addison.

Woodward, 2. Pure; free from mixture; innocent; as 7. Perspicacious; sharp; as a clear sight, cleanly joys. 3. Cleansing; making clean; as cleanly powder.

Obs. cleanly play; a cleanly evasion.

ner; neatly; without filth. Shak and foreign matter; neatness. Freedom from infection or a foul disease.

used of language or style; as, cleanness of expression. Druden.

nocence. Cleanness of teeth denotes want of provisions. Amos iv. 6. CLEANS ABLE, a. clenz'able. That may be cleansed. CLEANSE, v. t. clenz. [Sax. clansian, from clane, clean.]

To purify; to make clean: to remove filth, or foul matter of any kind, or by any bing, scouring, scraping, purging, ventilation, &c. ; as, to cleanse the hands or face ; to cleanse a garment; to cleanse the bowels; to cleanse a ship; to cleanse an infect- 18. Free from spots or any thing that dis-

6. Free from guilt; sanctified; holy. John 3. To free from ceremonial pollution, and consecrate to a holy use. Numb. viii. 15. Ezek, xliii, 20. 4. To purify from guilt. 1 John i. 7.

5. To remove; as, to cleanse a crime

CLEANS'ED, pp. clenz'ed. Purified; made clean; purged; healed.

CLEANS'ER, n. clenz'er. He or that which cleanses; in medicine, a detergent. Arbuthnot.

Purifying: CLEANS'ING, pp. clenz'ing. making clean; purging; removing foul or noxious matter from; freeing from guilt.

"The CLEANS'ING, n. denz'ing. The act of purifying, or purging. Mark i. 44. Luke v. 14.

ed. [Not in use.]

llaer, a reflux, llaeru, to ebb, to clear, or W. eglur, clear, from llur, extended, [like floor ;] Ir. gleair, lear, leir and glor ; Arm. sclear; L. clarus; Fr. clair: Sp. Port. claro ; It. chiaro ; D. klaar ; G. klar ; Sw. and Dan. klar. See Glare and Glory.]

plat of ground; the way is clear.

body or clothes, foul matter from a ves 2. Free from clouds, or fog; serene; as a 6. To cleanse; as, to clear the hands from pure; as clear water; clear sand; clear air : clear glass.

from 4. Free from any thing that creates doubt or uncertainty; apparent; evident; manifest; not obscure; conspicuous; that is, open to the mind; as, the reason is clear.

Swift. 5. Unclouded; luminous; not obscured; as a clear sun; a clear shining after a rain. 2 Sam. xxiii.

6. Unobstructed; unobscured; as a clear view.

Glanville. 8. Not clouded with care, or ruffled by passion; cheerful; serene; as a clear aspect-Milton the victory was clear. Milton. Spenser. L'Estrange. 10. Quick to understand; prompt; acute.

Mother of science, now I feel thy power Within me clear Milton. spotted : irreproachable. 2 Cor. vii.

In action faithful, and in honor clear. Pone preoccupied; impartial; as a clear judg-Sidney. ment.

13. Free from debt, or obligation; not liable to prosecution; as, to be clear of debt or responsibility. Gay.

14. Free from deductions, or charges; as, clear gain or profit. Locke.

Sherwood. 15. Not entangled; unembarrassed; free: as, the cable is clear. A ship is clear, when she is so remote from shore or other object, as to be out of danger of striking, or to have sea room sufficient.

process whatever, as by washing, rub- 16. Open; distinct; not jarring, or harsh; as a clear sound; a clear voice

17. Liberated: freed: acquitted of charges: as, a man has been tried and got clear.

figures; as a clear skin. Clear is followed by from or by of.

Thou shalt be clear from this my oath. Gen. The air is clear of damp exhalations.

ELEAR, adv. Plainly; not obscurely; man-

Druden, 2. Clean; quite; entirely; wholly; indicating entire separation; as, to cut a piece clear off; to go clear away; but in this sense its use is not elegant.

Clear or in the clear, among joiners and carpenters, denotes the space within walls, or length and breadth clear or exclusive of the thickness of the wall.

CLEAR, v. t. To make clear; to fine; to remove any thing foreign; to separate from any foul matter; to purify; to clarify; as, to clear liquors.

This use of clean is not now CLEAN-TIMBERED, a. Well-proportion- 2. To free from obstructions; as, to clear the road.

CLEAR, a. [W. claer, clear, bright, from 3. To free from any thing noxious or injurious; as, to clear the ocean of pirates; to clear the land of enemies. 4. To remove any incumbrance, or embarrassment; often followed by off or away; as, to clear off debts; to clear away rubbish. 5. To free; to liberate, or disengage; to exonerate; as, to clear a man from debt, obligation, or duty.